New open access book series, New IPL Project proposals, IPL-KLC Conference, and Travel supports

Dear ICL colleagues,

The ICL would like to announce you incoming activities of ICL, IPL and KLC2020.

New open access book series will be launched at WLF5.

The ICL proposed the Kyoto Landslide Commitment 2020 (KLC2020) in May 2017, and KLC2020 and its secretariat were launched in November 2020. The KLC2020 secretariat has expended efforts to create a new Open Access Book Series “Progress in Landslide Research and Technology” as a key tool for the implementation of the KLC2020. The book series will be launched at the high-level panel discussion on 3 November 2021 during the WLF5 in Kyoto, Japan.

2021 IPL project proposals will be called by 15 December 2021.

2022 IPL-KLC2020 Hybrid Conference will be organized on 14-16 March 2022 in Kyoto, Japan. Presentation of new IPL project proposals, reports of ongoing IPL Projects and WCoEs, and research/investigation/activity reports by the ICL members and KLC2020 partners are called. Those presentations will be invited to contribute to the Progress in Landslide Research and Technology.

Application of the travel support (500-1500 USD for each ICL full member) to the ICL-IPL-KLC2020 meetings in November 2021 and March 2022 is called.
